

Antonios Papadopoulos

PROFILE

Business and technology-driven professional with over ten years of experience in process development, change management and product ownership within complex organizations. Experienced in leading business processes, cross-functional collaboration and transformation initiatives within SAP ERP environments at Telia Sverige AB.

Beyond my operational background, I bring over 20 years of hands-on expertise in programming, web development, and digital services. Through parallel development and consulting assignments, I have built extensive experience in technical problem-solving, product architecture, and direct client engagement.

Combines business understanding, technical expertise and strategic thinking with a structured and solution-oriented approach.
